SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Our sincere congratulations to the new Truckee Public Utility District directors. We feel that they will work toward the best interests of the district with an aim for continued improvement and will be deserving of cooperation which should be given them. They replace two fine public spirited men who have done much to further development of the district and we hope the new members can point to as good results during their incumbency.

A few years ago a train wreck such as occurred near here last week would have probably resulted in death and serious injuries to scores Modern safety methods and efficien employes made the recent mishap only a minor disturbance and a few short hours after it occurred traffic continued normally. It speaks wel for the careful and efficient opera ion of the Southern Pacific.

Through the cooperation of our supervisors and Clerk R. N. McCormack and the local American Legion, Truckee's hopes for a new Veterans' Memorial building will be realized soon. This cooperation should win appreciation.

It took the volunteer fire department just 25 minutes from the time the siren sounded Sunday to reach the scene of the fire in the Painter home, string out and connect 400 feet of hose, extinguish the incipient roof blaze, reload the hose and equipment and return to the fire station It is a record of which the boys may be justly proud.

Veterans' Hall To Be Started This Summer

Large Structure Will Cost Approximately $35,00 To Complete

PLANS ARE BEING MADE

Supervisors Vote Veterans Full Authority In the Details

Truckee's long anticipated hope of having a Veterans' Memorial building will be realized during the next few months if plans formed at the meeting of the Nevada County board of Supervisors this week are carried out.

The architect, George Sellon of Sacramento was asked to submit detailed plans by May 10 for the approval of the board and members of Truckee Post No. 439, American Legion, in whose hands the full responsibility for detail and type of building were placed by members of the board and Clerk R. N. McCormack.

The estimated cost has been placed at between $35,000 and $38,000, it was reported by members of the American Legion building committee James McIver, Jack Wolert and H O. Anderson who attended the meeting are discussed the matter with the board Tuesday. They were given a fine reception by the board and the two groups will without doubt work in perfect harmony.

Tentative plans call for a Gothic style structure, 162 by 68 feet over all, with a combined auditorium and gymnasium, 63 by 85 feet, comprising the main room with two rows of seats on each side. There will also be a stage in the auditorium 17 by 31 feet. The main meeting room is to be 20 by 32 feet and will be built in a circular fashion with a full covered terrace overlooking the south and the Truckee river canyon.

A fully equipped kitchen to be be 10 by 16 feet and a lobby, 16 by 16 feet will comprise the balance of the floor space with the exception of antirooms, rest rooms and other appointments.

The building will be of frame construction covered with rigid asbestos shiingles. The building will be heated with a steam plant to be installed in the basement portion.

Bids will probably be called before June 1, it was indicated.

HEALTH OFFICIAL IN TAHOE MEET TELLS OF TRI-COUNTY PLAN

TAHOE CITY, May 4.— Dr. George M. Uhl, chief of the bureau of county health work of the state department of public health, Tuesday night addressed a large group of interested residents of Lake Tahoe at the high school in Tahoe City, explaining the many advantages of the proposed tri-county health plan under state supervision and regulation.

It has been proposed that the three neighboring counties, Nevada Placer and El Dorado, request their supervisors to investigate the plan for the purpose of organizing a more comprehensive and workable plan than can be expected unde exisiting conditions. The plan, as explained in interesting detail by Dr. Uhl, would give the three combined counties a fulltime state accredited health officer, a qualified nurse and a sanitary engineer. All this in addition to the less adequate program now being followed would cost the tax payers no more than the present setup, a large share of the expense being shared by the state.

Committees or interested groups were urged to contact their supervisors and ask them to study the proposal. Dr. Uhl last year spoke on the same subject before the local Lions Club and secured the whole hearted endorsement of that group.

Fishing Season Opens Here With Many Big Limits

Scores Flock to Truckee May First To Fish in This District

WATER HIGH, CLEAR

Bait Predominates As Lure With Some Results On Flies

Although the water in the Truckee river was too high and too clear for best results, hundreds of fishermen responded to the thrills of opening day on May 1 and a number of fine limits of trout were reported. Some good results were obtained with flies, but bait fishing, with worms predominating, proved the most popular during the opening days.

The first and one of the best limits was brought in by Gino Giovannani, who was awarded the pole and equipment donated by the Lewis Store for the largest trout caught in the Truckee river on opening day He had a 6 and a quarter pound rainbow with six smaller trout to fill the limit.

Other limits were reported by Oscar Schumacher who caught among others a four and a half and a three pound Loch Leven. Charles Cozzalio had his limit with only seven trout while Carl Kech had two three pounders and six rainbows of a pound each. Dave Cabona, as usual returned with his limit early with a basket of 19 trout and Colin Campbell neared the limit mark with12 and Harve Frazier went over the top with a fine mess of 25.

One of the prettiest fish displayed was an 11 pound machinaw caught in Lake Tahoe by Bill Johnson.

Most of the fish were caught in the river between here and the state line, although many had excellent luck between here and Tahoe. The local experts predict that better fishing will be enjoyed during the coming weekend than on the first day.

THURSDAY'S CHILD IS BACK

"Thirty Thursday" has crawled out of the grave California voters dug for it last fall and with a brand new birth certificate is out to get adopted by California this year, or at least at the general election in November 1940.

Sponsors say Thursday's child will lead this state into a lasting springtide of prosperity, and who can object to prosperity? But a question does remain. And that is:

Can we afford prosperity of this kind, prosperity backed neither by work produced, goods made, services rendered, nor income earned, but by golden promises?

Experience, pretty admirable teacher, says wealth and savings are created by work and wisdom, by investment and thrift. There are no short cuts for any person or group to any prospertiy worth having.

SCIENCE IS NOT ENOUGH

Here's one victory that didn't go to science. Human nature being the wonderful, cantankerous, unpredictable thing that it is, science appearently just hasn't caught up with it yet.

That's one fact that came to light the other day when James and John Wood, seven year old twins were interviewed on their birthday by an inquiring reporter in New York.

John is the "scientific" twin. He was "scientifically conditioned," coached and carefully observed ever since infancy.

Jimmy is the "unscientific" one. He just grew up like any normal youngster.

What does "Scientific" think of school? "I hate it!" he replied, taking a vigorous crack at "scientific conditioning" with completely unabashed frankness.

"I think it's swell!" states Jimmy. And he has a report card to show that his enthusiasm is matched by his grades. They're almost perfect.

"Scientific's" are only slightly above the average.

What's it all prove?

Maybe that all science and a little play, to restate the old proverb, mkes Jack a dull boy.

A LIVING WAGE

The amount paid by both employers and employes in social security taxes is scheduled to be materially increased next year. That simply means that more and more money will go to the government—and that there will be less and less for private spending, individual investment and industrial development. As a result, the suggestion by Secretary Morgenthau that congress change the law so that the going federal rate of one per cent be maintained for at least another year deserves the utmost consideration.

There is no question here of endangering the social security program. Any number of economists, including government experts, have pointed out that the creation of a gigantic social security reserve, is impractical and basically unsound. And the social security moneys now paid in are simply spent by the government as soon as received, which then deposits promissory notes in the form of bonds.

The greatest internal need we face today is to encourage business and you can do that only by allowing business to earn a decent profit if it can.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, May 4.— (UP)— A real fight with no holds barred is brewing between Governor Olson and the legislature over the subject of open grand jury harings on charges of corruption of public officers and employes.

The governor pulled no punches in vetoing the bill and dispatching a stinging rebuke to both houses. It was uncertain whether an attempt would be made to override Olson's veto although the bill was given healthy majorities in both senate and assembly.

Assemblyman Henry Meehan, Oakland democrat, submitted the bill to repeal an act passed two years age opening up the grand pury sessions

The assembly passed it 62 to 6 and Senator J. C. Garrison, D., Modesto was the only upper house member to vote no in the 32 to 1 ballot for passage.

"Deplorable conditions prevailing in the legislature at the 1937 and other former sessions were, largely through the operation of this section, exposed to public view and opinion for the first time," Olson commented. "Some reform has been accomplished. Much remains to be done. Reforms undertaken, and to a much greater degree yet to be accomplished, are and will be in no small measure, attributable to the publicity resulting from the operation of Section 925A, of the penal code, sought to be repealed by this bill."

He continued: "This bill seeks to restore secrecy in grand jury investigations of charges of evidence justifying inquiry into the possible corruption of public officials. Open hearings and full publicity concerning the action of any public official which even border on corruption or constitute official misconduct, should be required instead of being suppressed.

"Enactment of a bill such as this is a backward step—"

Olson added the public is entitled to know of accusations and dereliction of public duty and said "every honest official should welcome open hearings of any such accusations."

The Sacramento investigation turned up many surprising facts, including the hiring of some legislators by lobbyists as attorneys, the payment of campaign expenses by large corporations, and other similar practices which drew censure from the grand jury and the governor.

Publication of the Philbrick report covering all phases of the investigation, resulted in red faces and burning ears for many legislators.

The governor's veto of the grand jury bill was not the only development along this line. The assembly refused to take up a bill by speaker pro tem Hugh Donnelly, Turlock democrat, which would have required registration of lobbyists and statement of their fees and expenses.

This created quite a turmoil, particularly among the large crowd of business representatives who constantly throng back of the rail and clutter up the floor of the asesmbly. Although the bill was reported out of the rules committee, Donnelly was unable to bring it to a vote and the assembly sent it back to the judiciary codes committee, the graveyard of unwanted bills. The vote was 52 to 25.

A slight right-about-face followed a few days later when the assembly passed a resolution by Hugh Burns Freson democrat, to clear the assembly floor of everyone except members past members, attaches and the press The almost unanimous approval of the resolution, however, was not believed so much a rebuke to the lobbyist as it was to the wives, families, visitors, friends, delegations of the school children and "Joe Dokes from the old home town."

The assembly was getting to the point where a movie mob scene was quiet in comparison. Even the loud speaking system was almost drowned out by the constant buzz_buzz. Members standing up to speak were lost in the shuffle and gay-colored feminine hats lent a holiday atmosphere to the supposedly dignified assembly

Just how carefully the members respect the resolution remains to be seen. Some of the lobbyists said privately they welcomed the rule because if none of their number were allowed on the floor everyone would fare equally.

SEAWELL ATTACKS EVASIVE PROGRAM OF RELIEF OFFICIAL

SACRAMENTO, May 4.— Attacking "evasions and procrastination" of Relief Director H. Dewey Anderson Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville charged Anderson with "deliberately playing upon miseries" of persons needing state aid to satisfy some hidden complex.

Anderson's office released a press statement to the effect that 33,000 relief clients would be cut from the relief rolls and the next day contradicted the statement.

"Is it not enough that our unfortunate citizens on relief have to cope with their own economic instability without having to contend with the caprices of Anderson," Senator Seawell asked.

The Roseville solon wanted to know why Anderson issued the story that thousands would be cut off, and then followed that fabrication with another of reassurance.

"Maybe the relief administrator was following the logic of the moron who when asked why he was hitting himself on the head with a hammer replied he did it because it felt so good when he stopped."

Seawell referred to Anderson's explanation for his actions that he would effect certain economies which would enable the relief administration to keep poeple on the rolls, by saying that all economies possible should have been put into effect sooner in order that the state and its citizens would benefit by decreased costs of relief.

"Why has not Anderson brought the legislature a comprehensive relief program?" Seawell asked. "It now remains for the legislative bodies of our state government to write their own relief bill and I am sure both relief clients and thos paying the bills, the taxpayers, will be better satisfied."

METEOR RESTS ON LAKE BOTTOM TO END BUSY CAREER

TAHOE CITY, May 4.—— The old lake steamer, The Meteor, was sent to her final resting place in the middle of Lake Tahoe a week ago last Friday, being towed out and sunk by a launch under the direction of William Ham of Tallac.

Ham proceeded under sealed orders from Will Bliss of the pioneer Bliss family, who said the boat was the fastest steamer in the west in her day and almost refused to be sunk

She had been newly painted in prepartion for the funeral rites—a token of the regard in which she was held by her owners.

In the Comstock days the old boat carried lumber and passengers between Glenbrook and California, also being used for private lake parties by her owners. Only three members of her crew remain—Henry Wehrman, Herbert Watson and Ernest H Pomin—son of the old boat's first captain—Captain J. E. Pomin. All three of them watched the old boat being towed to her journey's end on Friday with much reminiscing of the early days.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN, THURMAN

(by Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman)

The assembly devoted all of last week to the budget, making some additional cuts as well as restoring some of the cuts previously made The economy bloc committee composed of five Democrats and five Republicans, did a fairly good job in the writer's opinion. It was not all smooth sailing by any means and at times as the amendments were voted upon on the floor the vote was extremely close. A total of 92 amendments to the budget were made These 92 amendments after their ad option, plus other cuts previously made resulted in a total cut in the budget of about seven million dollars This in addition to the $73,000,000 relief item which was taken entirely out of the budget. The relief item will be submitted in a new bill which will be presented shortly. And again I wish to say to the people on relief that the legislature will vote them ample funds.

The assembly completed their work on the budget at about 11:15 P. M. last Friday and we predict in its presnt form will be passed on to the senate during the early part of the current week. Whether that body will make additional cuts remains to be seen. However from what we have heard from members of that body it is almost certain that additional reductions will be made.

Your assemblyman's second bill passed the senate last week without an opopsing vote. The bill, which had to do with the right of privacy in advertising matters, was handled by Senator Jesse Mayo in the upper house.

Due to the lengthy budget hearing but few bills have been taken up in the lower house during the past week and the total bills on the daily calendar last Friday numbered 451 As a result of the heavy calendar the assembly hereafter will be in session every week day including Saturday for the balance of the session. Among the bills which should pass during the present week is one which will create a new fair district for Mariposa county which at presend is included with Merced county district.

The alien fishing bill which we referred to last week in this column still remains in committee but we predict it will secure the necessary votes to pass out of committee shortly. The last committee vote stood 7 to 6 for a do pass recommendation It requires eight committee votes.

The assembly bill which would require children in all elementary grades of the public schools to salute the flag will probably come up for a vote this week. The writer believes that all children as well as adults should salute our flag, but we are opposed to compulsory legislation to force anyone to salute Old Glory Such compulsory legislation is too much on the order of Hitlerism. Let our boys and girls salute the flag because they love it and the nation it represents. Let's not try to legislate patriotism the Hitler way. Let's salute the flag because we love it and not because we are compeled to.

At last Friday's session of the assembly your assemblyman was happy to introduce a resolution honoring five veteran printers who competed in a type setting contest in Sacrament on that day. These old time printers came from New York, Louisiana, Washington, Kansas and Wisconsin. The oldest of the five, Benamin Franklin Waite, aged 94, won the contest. He hails from New York. The youngest of the group was aged 76 years.

One of the good old costumes which has prevailed in the lower house since time immemorial has been eliminated. By a vote of the members last Friday, friends of the legislators can no longer sit beside them at their desks. Heretofore, the wives and friends of the assembly men have always been permitted to sit in chairs placed beside the desks of the members. Even lobbyists, upon invitation, have had the same privege. But the new rule stops this and the wives and friends now will have a place reserved for them at the rear of the chamber inside the railing. Outside the railing visitors and lobbyists who have permit cards may continue to be seated. A special section in the gallery will also be reserved for friends of the legislators The reason for the revision of the rule is due to the crowded condition of teh aisles and the assembly chamber in general.

One day last week some 113 persons other than assemblymen and newspapermen were counted on the floor. Newspapermen have their desks on the floor of the chamber and they too have suffered from the extra large number of visitors and lobbyists, many of them sitting on their working desks.

Universal Brotherhood

THE opening stanza of a well-known hymn (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 105), typifies the prayer of all earnest Christians today:

"Help us to help each other, Lord,
Each other's cross to bear;
Let each his friendly aid afford,
And feel his brother's care."

Modern invention has reduced, measurably, the limitations of time and distance. Today, the so-called foreign country is our next-door neighbor. Through the medium of the radio, we are informed of current events as they occur. As a result, the problems arising across the miles of ocean, which demand attention, immediately become a part of our thought. It is, therefore, essential that all right-thinking people should develop and maintain an attitude of universal brotherhood.

The Golden Rule still remains the highest standard for the expression of this brotherhood. It applies both in the simplest dealings with our immediate neighbor and in the most complex diplomatic and other relationships with our fellow men at large. We do not hesitate to share our garden tools with the man next door. How much more, then, should we be willing to share our spiritual benefits with a group of individuals called a nation!

However, should the borrower next door misuse that which we have lent him, we may justly refuse to be allied with such a practice. In other words, the mere preaching of peace and brotherly kindness is insufficient. The essential part is the practicing of our highest concept of good. In his parable of the good Samaritan, Jesus not only rebuked hypocrisy, but also indicated the practical nature of true religion. . . .

Paul wrote to the workers in the church at Rome (Romans 13:10), "Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." The love which does no harm to one's fellow man is that expression of the Christ-spirit which was so perfectly exemplified by Jesus during his ministry. He was often wrongly accused, yet he retaliated in no way, but healed and blessed. . . .

All forms of aggression, greed, hatred, desire for war, and the like, arise primarily from a wrong concept of God, with its attendant fear. Belief in evil or the power of evil is disbelief in God. This naturally breeds fear, for ignorance is the very foundation of such a state of thought. John wrote (I John 4:16, 18): "He that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. . . . There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear." Thus, we see, the solution to our problem of overcoming fear of or distrust of a neighboring nation will be accomplished as we gain the right understanding of God and His perfect government of His creation, and as we express the love which "dwelleth in God." The acceptance and realization of the fact that, since there is one God, there is but one creation—spiritual and unified—enables one effectually to apply this understanding for the alleviation of human suffering.

Unity of thought regarding God and His creation engenders brotherly love, which precludes the possibility of inhuman warfare. Mary Baker Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 340): "One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfills the Scripture, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.'" And on page 467 she further states: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."—The Christian Science Monitor.

son as being willing to call a special election on a revived $30-every-Thursday proposal.

Patterson said he did not know what was in the governor's mind but said he personally felt that Olson "would certainly submit a question to the people is several hundred thousand persons wanted it done." The lieutenat governor's statement irked quite a few democrats who think Patterson is doing a good job of grabbing off publicity.

The whole question was prompted by filing of petitions during the week bearing 156,038 signatures from Los Angeles to put the "ham and eggs" scheme well over the required 212,117 signatures for a place on the ballot. The vote will be in November, 1940, unless Governor Olson yields to the special demands.

Patterson went on to say that if a 30-every-Thursday election is called it will probably be after a special session of the legislature, which he declared the governor had told him might be necessary "to get some semblance of a balanced budget."

The bitter battle over the governor's $557,000,000 budget raged throughout the week in both wings of the capitol. The assembly put in long hours debating detailed shashes in the appropriation bill and by week's end had dropped a total of $7,400,000 from the figure the governor had proposed.

There was a possibility the assembly's work would be for naught since senators were preparing their own amendments with help of a specially employed budget expert.

Their plans call for cuts totalling approximaely $30,000,000.

Boxers, wrestlers, and lobbyists figured in the two legislative investigations during the week.

An assembly comimttee heard the charges that "nearly all wrestling matches are fixed" and that "anyone in the game could have beaten Man Mountain Dean" from Richard Thomson, guard at Folsom Prison and former wrestler. Indefinite suspension of Dean by the state athletic commisison followed. Dean's continued use of the running road jump, an illegal tactic committee members had complained of was given as the reason for the suspension.

In San Francisco, Philip Bancroft legislative representative of the associated Farmers and former candidate for the U. S. senate, asserted WPA is making loafers of prospective farm workers. He said relief wages were more attractive than those the farmer could pay, in his appearance befor a senate committee investigating "pressure groups" who seek to influence legislation.

Repeal of California's 20 year old syndicalism law was given a sound beating in the assembly with only 19 members voting to delete from statute books the prohibition against advocating overthrow of the government by violence.

Though Governor Olson and high naval officers urged passage of a bill to withdraw offshore fishing licenses from aliens, the assembly fish and game committee deadlocked 7 to 7 on a motion to send the measure to the floor.

The bill is admittedly aimed at Japanese who allegedly are more concerned with spying on naval maneuvers than with catching fish.

The assembly unemployment committee reported favorably the governor's compulsory health insurance bil after an executive session. Hearings previously had developed oppositior from businessmen to the $69,000,000 annual tax that would be levied, and from doctors.

Action to revive the state's controversial agriculturay prorate law continued with the senate passing a bill to transfer administration from an independent committee to the department of agriculture and the assembly agriculture committee announcing completion of a similar bill.
